

For Immediate Release
Contact: Heather Willison, 303.517.2272, heather@snap-pr.com

Trista & Ryan Sutter's Newborn Son Wears Baby Candy

Sept. 24 issue of US Weekly presents first photos of Max Sutter wearing Baby Candy onesie

Aurora, Colo. (Sept. 21, 2007) – Baby Candy, a customized baby and toddler clothing designer and manufacturer, announced today that celebrity baby Maxwell Alston Sutter – newborn son of The Bachelorette stars Trista & Ryan Sutter – is featured in the Sept. 24 issue of US Weekly wearing a Baby Candy “Property of” onesie.

Inspired by the sweetness of parenthood, Olivia Omega Logan founded Baby Candy in 2006, offering designer and customized baby and toddler t-shirts in a variety of styles, personalization options and candy colors. All items are made to order, uniquely wrapped like candy and accompanied by a “nutrition” label.

About Baby Candy

Baby Candy is a mom-owned and operated online boutique, offering designer and customized baby and toddler t-shirts in a variety of styles, personalization options and candy colors. All items are made to order, uniquely wrapped like candy and accompanied by a “nutrition” label. Collections include the Candy Collection, Customized Collection, Halloween Treats and Holiday Candies. Baby Candy onesies and toddler tees range from $17 to $24 and are available online at www.babycandystore.com, as well as at local boutiques around the country.

###